Character Background

You are an Elf disguised as a Kobold. You have glued bits of orange fur to your body. It is a spotty job but good enough to fool the Kobolds. Sometimes though you catch a Preek[#20] staring at your rear end and licking his lips. You are confused whether this is caused by hunger or the Kobold sex drive.

Goals

YOU ARE A WERECHICKEN HUNTER. You were recruited by a group of High Elves to find and destroy a werechicken who has been terrorizing their village. You tracked the beast to this clan's cave. Unfortunately you were abducted by Olaf before the next full moon.

- Find the werechicken and destroy it
- Avoid or eliminate Shatus
- Escape the plane alive

Enemies

One of the Kobolds is a werechicken. You are sure of it.

Shatus [#18] is a pipeweed merchant and competes for business with the Elves who employed you. He is not friendly with Elves.

Allies

Brobag[#13] is a fellow Elf in disguise and werechicken hunter. He may help you destroy the werechicken when the time is right.

Fahved[#11] and Puscag[#22] are pious Kobolds who have dedicated their lives to the worship of Vor. They may possess abilities that can aide your quest.

Items

Dagger of Chicken Slaying
Cloak

Special Abilities

Sneaky Little Bastard: By folding your arms across your chest in a X formation, you become invisible. Other player have to pretend you are not there. If somebody offers you a card, you cannot refuse and must uncross your arms becoming visible again. This costs one card.

Dagger of Chicken Slaying: If a chicken hits you and you lose a card, then you can take a card at random from the chicken and give it one of your crappy ones.
