Character Background

You are the local pipeweed merchant. The local High Elves grow a plant called Sweetleaf that rivals the best stuff you produce. So, you must eliminate the competition. There are rumors that a werechicken has savaged their village killing several of them. While you rub your hands gleefully at this news, you have also heard that they have recruited an Elf werechicken hunter to disguise infiltrate your clan in disguise. An arrogant Elf should never be in YOUR clan!

Goals

You are a skilled cook with knowledge of many spices and herbs. Your secret ingredient in any recipe is pipeweed. You grind it into powder, chop it up for salads. You boil, bake, puree, mince, stew and pickle pipeweed. Yummy! Pipeweed can be smoked, too. When it burns though, it smells like a shoe.

- Kill the werechicken hunter
- Sell your pipeweed
- Escape the plane alive

Enemies

Somewhere amongst you is an Elf. That is just WRONG! He must die.

Allies

Zarsin[#10] hates elves.

Special Abilities

Short Order Cook: Any Chicken, Baby or Kobold meal prepared by you heals +2 cards when it is eaten.

Pipeweed Vendor: Once a Kobold accepts a Pipeweed card, they are instantly hooked! They cannot accept a Sweetleaf card. They cannot discard, destroy or trade the Pipeweed away. The only way to get rid of it is to sell it back to you.
